ARTIST'S STATEMENT

Swimming in Sand 2021. Watercolour and pencil on paper. H180mm W210mm

‘As I walk in this landscape throughout the year, I sense the shifting light and temperature, the way the natural world and the plants respond to each change in the atmosphere. As I stand by the ponds I sense a wide and beautiful universe that is there as soon as we are quiet enough to see it and sense it. The way the light hits the rippling water, the seagulls swoop above; the swans go about their business, the rushes and reeds create a symphony of sound with the wind. I am made aware that ‘real life’ is so much more interesting than the noisy news given to us on screens and the fear that we are being encouraged to feel as often as possible.

Here in the natural world, I can absorb the real medicine, that which is a part of me too. I am not man made, I am a part of this world of light and sound and aliveness too. The paintings and etchings here, speak to this idea of the medicine of the natural world, that is contained in us too. They contain stories and dreams and wild plants and the light of the day and the dark of the night. I hope you enjoy them. ‘
